Confirmation Call: Leaving a Voicemail Message

Hi _____, this is _____. I'm the person who is doing the presentation tomorrow evening at _____'s house, and I want to first of all thank you for accepting the invitation. Just to let you know briefly – our company is going to be featured on the Celebrity Apprentice, March 22. There will be a 2-hour episode of our company and Donald Trump is going to tell the whole world about our technology. Now _____ I'm going to bring that technology tomorrow to the meeting, and you're going to see it and experience it. You're going to get all your questions answered tomorrow, and I'm really looking forward to meeting you there. I'm going to be there about 15-20 minutes early and I'd love to meet you there at the same time just to get to know you before it starts. You're welcome to bring whoever you'd like to bring. So thanks _____ see you tomorrow and have yourself a wonderful day and we'll talk then.

Confirmation Call: Live!

Hi _____ this is _____ how are you? (wait for response) Great. I'm the person who is doing the meeting tomorrow at _____'s house and I understand you accepted the invitation. (wait for response) Fantastic! Hey listen – do you have a couple of minutes? I just want to tell you briefly about what's happening and why _____ is so excited. (wait for response) Just quickly – I don't know if _____ told you, but we're going to be on the Celebrity Apprentice on March 22nd. Donald Trump is telling the whole world about our company, and (their name)_____ what we've got is this new videophone which has no delay in speech or video – the lips match up with the words – it's not like the sketchy webcam stuff that people are used to seeing and this videophone can even hook up to your television set so you could talk to people live on TV in stereo surround sound like on Star Trek. It's incredible. (wait for response) I know it's amazing. To explain the whole opportunity over the phone to you right now would be like trying to teach you to swim over the phone, and that's why _____ invited you tomorrow to take a look at the information and see how you can take advantage of this before it airs on the Celebrity Apprentice. I'm really looking forward to meeting you there. I'm going to be there about 15-20 minutes early and I'd love to meet you there at the same time just to get to know you before it starts. You're welcome to bring whoever you'd like to bring. You're going to get all your questions answered tomorrow – so save them for then. So thanks _____ for taking my call and we'll see you tomorrow.
